

UNITED NATIONS

The United Nations Headquarters complex as seen in the early evening. In the foreground is the Dag Hammarskjöld Library at the foot of the Secretariat. To the rear is the domed Assembly building.

The United Nations General Assembly convenes each year in September for a full meeting of the Member States

The Japanese Peace Bell, cast from coins and metal donated by people of 60 nations, is housed in a Shinto-like shrine

For the sake of uniformity in the presentation the proportions and some variations in the shades of colour of these flags do not conform exactly to official national specifications.